

LEADING THE NATION: Building Excellence for California's Incarcerated and Formerly Incarcerated College Students

Go beyond simply reaching incarcerated and formerly incarcerated college students and embrace the future—a shared vision of quality and sustainability.

We are ready to focus on:

- Quality
- Student Support
- Degree Completion
- Job Attainment
- Transfer

Topics will cover emerging issues ranging from trauma responsiveness, to technology in custody, to new funding for on-campus efforts. Sessions are designed to result in measurable movement toward a shared goal, delving into details and strategies that you can take back to your campus.

Event Schedule

Thursday, April 19–Friday, April 20

Day 1: 12:30 pm–4:15 pm

Day 2: 7:30 am–4:00 pm

Please review the agenda on the registration page to determine whether to attend both days or only Day 2 of the summit.

Hotel Irvine

17900 Jamboree Road
Irvine, CA 92614

Attendees Will:

- Participate in interactive workshops delving into specific challenges and solutions
- Engage with a variety of viewpoints, including those of faculty, administrators, graduates, and stakeholders from the California Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation
- Learn concrete strategies to help students complete degrees
- Address issues beyond the campus, including employment

Who Should Attend?

Colleges currently working with incarcerated or formerly incarcerated students are encouraged to send faculty and staff leading the efforts on campus, including:

- CSSOs, CIOs, CBOs
- Deans
- Program Directors
- Program Managers
- Counselors
- Researchers
- Coordinators for student equity
- Career Education and non-Career Education faculty involved with these students

Colleges not yet doing the work, but who are interested in building efforts on campus, should send staff or faculty who would likely lead such efforts.
